

Engr. Frank Morgan Akpan

Proprietor / Founder

Crown-Hill University (CHU) was promoted by Engr. Morgan Frank Akpan, a successful business man. He is an accomplished businessman with over forty years of experience and interests in several sectors of the economy such as construction, energy and power, agriculture, transport and infrastructural development.

Motivation for setting up the University:

Engr. Morgan Frank Akpan is a man who is so compassionate and always wants to give back to the society more than he benefited from it, thus wanting each time to give the teeming youths the opportunity to discover or re-discover themselves early in life. Although well-educate, he recalled that his academic and professional growth could have been much fast-tracked if he had early opportunity for academic exposure. This is the driving force for establishing the university

Why did he establish the University in Kwara State and not particularly in the South South geopolitical zone, where he hails from?

He decided to set up the university in Kwara state in the North Central geo political zone and not in the South South Geo-political zone, where he hails from because the Proprietor, being a completely detribalized Nigerian, grew up in the North Central part of the country, believes that all that God has given him were based on the mercy of God, which he did not merit, which were the offshoot of decision to settle down in the North Central Nigeria; he tends to ask the question, ' is my settling down here not for a purpose, and in fulfillment of His plan for me'? His answers to these great questions tend to make him rationalize that he is a gift to humanity at large, and hence the location where Crown-Hill University (CHU) is cited does not really matter, since it will be accessible to all segments of the society to benefit from, irrespective of the geopolitical zone/ethnic group.
